

Covid Defence

At The Hospital & Clinic

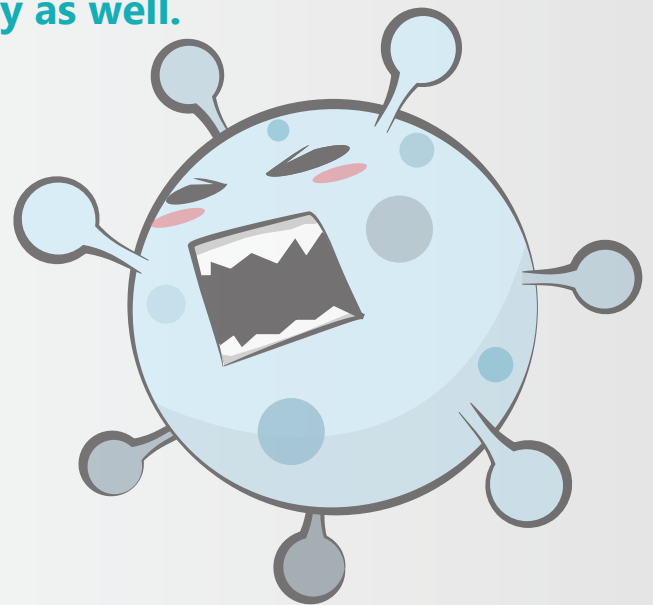

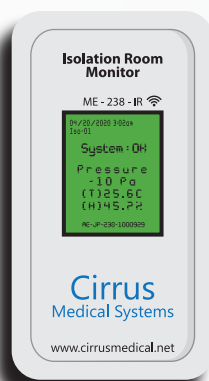

How do you help protect your healthcare workers, the patients and community against Covid?

If you or your staff contract the virus, who is left to help the community?

We can be your first line of defense against potential outbreaks in your facility.

A negative pressure isolation room combined with proper zoning, and the right knowledge are absolutely essential to protecting your staff and patients.

Cirrus can quickly help setup an engineered monitored isolation room that not only protects your staff and patients, but your community as well.
